

Nexplant Safety Use Case

Manage personnel accessing danger zones

Safety officers can keep count of the number of people in danger zones using infrared thermography that can separate the person's head and shoulders using industry-leading 3D multilevel analysis. During emergencies, they can make sure everyone has been evacuated safely.

