

Process Mining

Through digitally re-implementing the work process performance history of employees, analyzing work lead time, and verifying non-standard variations, an improved work model was created, and work automation was promoted by applying RPA.

